

UNIT 2 TOURISM

MY GLOSSARY

Technical and Professional English

TOURISM VOCABULARY

DATE	WORD	EXAMPLE
2015.04.10	GLITTER	The jewels glittered in the glare of the sun.
2015.04.10	KNACK	Your knack of cooking so well is great!
2015.04.10	WHIP	You would have to whip right through the problem by asking her.
2015.04.10	STROLL	I've been strolling for more than two hours, I think I'll have to go back home.
2015.04.10	FROWN	With a frown on her face, she ended up the conversation.
2015.04.10	BLOKE	This bloke attempted to enter my house without permission.
2015.04.10	RECKON	I reckon he thought we were going to the distant lodge.
2015.04.16	LOUSY	This lousy experience has left me shocked.
2015.04.16	DESTITUTE	The terrible thunderstorm has left me destituted of my material goods.
2015.04.16	SNEAK INTO	He sneaked into the party to distract the police.
2015.04.16	KICK OFF	Music has already kicked off for us to dance!
2015.04.16	LOST [...] COOL	The president lost his cool and behaved with bad manners.
2015.04.16	CLATTER	The clatter noise was heard in the rear of the road.
2015.04.16	RUGGED	The higher she got, the rugged the paths were.
2015.04.16	HUM	The hum of bees is very annoying.

DATE	WORD	EXAMPLE
2015.04.16	TART	I have not told her but she must have realized how tart the terrible meal was.
2015.04.16	THRIVING	It was a really thriving texture.
2015.04.16	HEAVING	It was such a heaving sound that was even reassuring.
2015.04.16	STENCH	The stench coming from the sewer was such that we had to call to the town hall to have it cleaned.
2015.04.16	SWELTERING	The sweltering summer heat shattered our vacation.
2015.04.16	CLAMMY	The clammy sugar that covered the cake got hooked on my fingers.
2015.04.16	NIPPY	It's a bit nippy today, and according to the weather forecast it's going to be like that for two or more days.
2015.04.16	CRISP	When I bit the cake I felt it was crisp-ness.
2015.04.17	QUAINT	Many buildings in the city are quaint and so our heritage.
2015.04.16	STEEP	It was a bit dangerous to walk along the edge of the steep cliff.
2015.04.16	HORDES	There were hordes of people crossing the bridge to go to the event.
2015.04.25	SAUNTER	The saunter through the forest makes you feel good.
2015.04.25	MUNCH	I'm munching the nut so strong.
2015.04.25	TRUDGE	He trudged after the heavy blow.